

This course is designed to allow students with varying abilities, the opportunity to succeed as they grow in their knowledge of geometric shapes, the properties of geometric shapes, and the measurements associated with geometric shapes. Deductive logic in the form of proofs will be used to discover relationships between shapes. Inductive logic in the form of conjectures is used to set the stage for each topic.